Subject: From BLACKBOARD to SCHOLOGY

Date: June 3, 2013

Natalie Carrigan, our Director of Technology, will present to the Board at our meeting of June 3. Her presentation will focus on the advantages and benefits of the migration from Blackboard to Schoology, a “cloud-based, safe and secure social networking service and virtual learning environment.”

I have included for your review an attachment on this subject in preparation for our meeting of June 3.

Westport Public Schools Will Move to Schoology [skool-uh-jee]

Schoology allows teachers to share assignments and digital materials with students and is essentially a cloud-based safe and secure social networking service and virtual learning environment. It will support blended learning and/or flipped classrooms where appropriate.

Why Schoology?

Since 2008 teachers have used Blackboard as a means to share documents, files, resources, and assignments with students and parents. While Blackboard was the best tool at the time of purchase, teachers, students, and parents found it very cumbersome to use.

For the past two and half years, our Information Technology (IT) Department has worked with small groups of teachers to review alternative programs to Blackboard. In total, they evaluated fifteen different products and compared the features and functions available to students, teachers, administrators, parents, and technical staff. If a product looked promising, focus groups and pilots were conducted to gather additional feedback. In order for a product to make it to that wider audience at a minimum it had to meet the following criteria:

- allow equivalent functionality currently available in Blackboard
- efficient yet simple user interface
- provide separate user accounts for students and parents
- provide a parent view that provides access to a majority of the student content
- be able to auto-update course enrollments and user data daily
- include a user friendly calendar

Reaction to Schoology

During the 2012-2013 school year teachers, students, and parents from grades kindergarten to high school piloted Schoology. Everyone involved found that the program was easy to use, met virtually all of our needs), and provided enough improvement in form and function that it was worth the effort to change.

Comments from those who were involved in the pilot program and the focus groups appear below:

I find Schoology to be very easy to use because of its 'Facebook' like interface. All important current information is posted in one location much like a Facebook newsfeed. No more searching through different school or PTA websites to find out what is going on at my kids' schools - everything I want to know about it is on one page. Also, the ability to receive notifications or updates on my phone through the Schoology app is huge!

-Renee Sivinki, Parent

I found Schoology very teacher friendly! I love it! I was able to upload files, pictures, and videos easily. Parents who have multiple children in the district were very excited to hear that they will be able to view all their children in one spot. They found it very time consuming to navigate through Blackboard to search for all the different classes. My colleagues are eager to use it next year!

-Annie Roesler, Kindergarten Teacher

I used Blackboard as a place to display information. It often felt cumbersome and never felt interactive. With Schoology, I am able to create discussion boards, online reading logs, as well as tests and quizzes with ease. Sharing those items with students is simple, even if I only want to share it with a few of them. More importantly though, I can provide feedback to the students that they will always have access to. My feedback comes in the form of a grade and or a comment, which is very helpful on the elementary level. The work they complete on Schoology is sorted and accessible for the entire year. Not only can I see the progress students have made, so can their parents and the students themselves. The simplicity and interactivity of Schoology is what makes it such a wonderful and versatile tool. Students took to it quickly and parents have enjoyed being able to see their children's graded work on a regular basis. I am looking forward to starting off next year with Schoology!

- Eric Lawrence, Grade 5 Teacher

Due to Schoology's overall ease of use and intuitive interface, I have been inspired to "flip" my classroom on numerous occasions. Schoology makes it easy to post video of lessons that students can access through the "upcoming" assignments list or the calendar. In addition it provides me with the ability to create online assessments that give me feedback on whether students understood the notes and what I may need to address the next day in class. I am able to use class time for students to apply what they've learned to problem sets, instead of taking notes, while I monitor the accuracy and proficiency at which they apply their new-found skills.

- Kevin Cuccaro, Grade 8 Math Teacher

Schoology has a very user-friendly, familiar interface. I can easily post updates with interesting links, photos and videos as well as link and upload documents that students can access and use. The calendar feature that compiles a students' assignments and due dates all into one space helps with time management (a developing skill for middle schoolers!). Having the ability to communicate with other Schoology educators across the country through groups has also inspired some new teaching ideas for my classroom. I'm looking forward to using it more in the future!

- Colleen Rondon, Grade 8 Science Teacher

Schoology vs. Blackboard? There's no contest; Schoology is SO MUCH easier to use! In all the years I have used Blackboard I only uploaded a handful of files; within a month of using Schoology I had created folders for each unit and uploaded hundreds of files! Users of Facebook will find the interface familiar, but familiarity with Facebook is NOT necessary to excel with the software. Whereas Blackboard required you to upload materials one class at a time, Schoology allows you to post to multiple classes at once! Schoology allows you to post one assignment to multiple classes, and adjust the due dates accordingly! You can also set Schoology to automatically export the due dates to a Google Calendar which you can share with your students, giving them more than one way to get to their homework! Needless to say, I have been posting ALL of my homework on Schoology since September! Another great thing about Schoology is that there is a free Schoology app that students and teachers can download. While students are working on a complicated project that requires multiple resources, I have students taking out their smartphones and laptops and opening the files that I have posted on Schoology; the ease of access, for both teachers and students, is astonishing!

- Michael Lazaroff, Staples science teacher

Using Schoology

We will officially begin using Schoology on the first day of school for the 2013-2014 school year. Teachers will be required to post the same type of information as they did with Blackboard.

We have setup our own instance of Schoology utilizing "Single Sign On". This means that users can log in with their existing Westport username and password. You can go directly to the "log in page" by going to <http://schoology.westport.k12.ct.us>.

Date: June 3, 2013

Having begun the process of addressing the matter of our school system's priorities, goals and action plans for the 2013-14 school year at previous Board of Education meetings, and having incorporated virtually all of the Board's suggestions for inclusion in the document appended to this memorandum, subject to Board of Education modification and approval this document will guide our school system instructional and administrative activities throughout the upcoming 2013-14 school year.

Since this item is listed on our agenda for the meeting of June 3 as a "discussion" item, there is no administrative recommendation to accompany the proposed Goals and Action Plans. Should the Board agree upon this proposed document at the meeting of June 3, or make final modifications, we will place this item on the agenda of the meeting of June 17 for Board of Education approval.
